are men. Their average salary is $31 16; that of the female teachers is $26 28. Not a single male student attends the course of lectures which are being delivered at the University of Cambridge on the History and Science of Educa-

The Ohio College Association at its meeting last week adopted divers recommendations as to degrees and courses of study which will tend to raise the standard or college education throughout the West. The University of Pennsylvania is endeavoring to purchase mere ground in its vicinity for the erection of additional buildings. If it succeeds it is said that two cirizens will contribute for building funds, one a million and the other three hundred shousand dollars.

The average expenditure upon a primary pupil in Boston is $18 45; upon a grammar pupil $28 20; and upon a pupil of the high and normal schools $87.42. Of the Boston school population 40 per cent are in the primary schools, and 54 per cent in the grammar and high schools.

The superintendent of the Peoria schools in a recent report recommends that when a teacher has proved his practical ability his position should be assured to him during efficient service and good behavior. He thinks that the third annual ap-pointment of a teacher should provide for continu-

Senator Butler's bill establishing a National educational fund out of the proceeds of the sales of pubhe lands and the net proceeds of patents is warmly approved by The Charleston News, which sets forth South Carolina's urgent need of assistance in her schools. Mr. Butler's bill provides that the State officers shall report to the Commissioner of Educa-tion the manner in which the money is expended.

Vice-President Finney, of the Boston School Board, in his retiring speech last week said that the important change in the methods of primary school instruction made in Boston about two years ago has had most beneficial results. Work is now acc m-plished in the lowest grade of schools that was not attempted ten or even five years ago. This is not the result of cramming. In most of these schools there is an air of cheerfulness and inverest on the part of pupils in happy contrast with their appear-ence a few years ago. unce a few years ago.

The State of New-York expended $9,675,992 last year upon her public schools-a larger amount than any other State. Illinois follows her on the list with $6,735,478; then comes Pennsylvania with with $6,755,478; then cover covered = $7,056-$7,046,116. The smallest sum expended = $7,056-was that provided by Wyoming. New-York has 386,225 illiterates out of a population of 5,082,871; and Massachusetts 168,615 out of a population of 1,783,085. Georgia is the State suffering most from illiteracy. It has a population of 1,542,180, and of this number 967,000 persons either cannot read or cannot write.

There is a great deal of unpleasant truth in a complaint recently made by the president of the San Francisco Board of Education. He declared that one reason why the work of teachers was not more uniformly successful was that parents showed indifference to their children's progress. So long as the child was crammed with something at school they were satisfied. "If they would visit the schools more frequently," he said, "and show the teachers that they themselves feel an interest in what is being taught, the result would be more mutually profitable."

The difference between teaching and training is that industrious cramming to the exclusion of applied knowledge is the great fault of the modern school system. "It is teaching,' it says, "that produces the stiff, mechanical essays and other productions of authorship which are the pride of exhibition days; it is training that enables one to write a well-expressed, grammatical letter. In fine, it is teaching that makes the average school what it is in processes and results; it is training combined in due measure with the teaching that goastifictes the superporty of the Quincy schools." constitutes the superiority of the Quincy schools.

A large percentage of Philadelphia's school population never go higher than the primary course. President Steel, of the School Beard, says that the nfortunate system of grading teachers' salaries was a great injury to the primary schools, and the was a great injury to the primary schools, and the stigma placed upon them by that method remains to their injury, although a reform has been made in the matter. Under the old plan newices were placed in charge of the primaries at small salaries, and of course the pupils suffered. It is pleasant to see in all directions evidences of a growing conviction that the first years of study are more important and should be more carefully supervised than any where

The superintendent of drawing in the Boston public schools says that he has found useful a course which leads the pupil from points and lines to curved lines, then to plain figures or plain perspective of solids. In the second part he leads the papel to the study of historical ornaments, from this to the principle of design and ornamental work, then to the study of the natural forms of plants, and finally in-trumental drawing and geometric perspective. Mr. W. S. Perry, of Worcester, has found that the pupils in his charge have done better since the drawing books were introduced into the third class, instead of the fourth class, as was formerly done.

A conference of the executive committee of the American Missionary Association with its most prominent Southern workers was held in Nashville last week. It was decided to extend the work of the Association in the directions of college and college preparatory work; of industrial instruction, both agricultural and mechanical; of normal instruction for teachers; and of theological instruction. In discussing the labors of the Association The Memphis Appeal goes so tar as to say that it is not the least of its gains that in the last few years such a revolution has taken place in the minds of the Southern people on the subject of the education of the negro. Fifteen years ago the Southern whites declared him incapable of mastering even the rudiments of knowledge. Now no one is so foolish as to advise the limiting of the education of the colored man or his aspirations in this direction.

At the meeting last week of the Massochusette both agricultural and mechanical; of normal in-

Teachers' Association the question of moral teaching in the schools was discussed by two speakers. One declared that moral training is an obligation as much due the State, and even society, by the schools, as intellectual training; that during the kindergarten stage of childhood, when the mind of kindergarten stage of childhood, when the mind of the cuild is open and plastic, the proper direction of the sentiments, unfolded under the stimulus of truthfuness are best cultivated by observance of natural phenomena. The other speaker on this sub-ject emphasized the necessity of having teachers with powerful moral natures who would sufficiently impress the pupils. Mr. W. J. Rolfe read to the association a paper complaining that there is too little use made of poetry in the public schools. He held that history may be studied with its aid and changed from a dry mass of facts to a living and interesting picture.

Mr. L. W. Anderson, master of the English High School in Boston, read before the Massachusetts teachers an interesting paper on his method of teaching history. He divides the school year into periods of say six weeks each, and requires his pupils to read some standard work within that time; such works, for instance, as "Ivanhoe," " Julius Casar," or " A Tale of Two Cities." At the end of each period an essay is required on some subject pertaining to the times described in the novel or play read; the themes being announced only at the very moment before the writing is to begin.
The experiment has thus far been attended with satisfactory results; for the lads gain valuable ideas which it is impossible for them to gain simply through the study of histories. When a lesson is to be recited, Mr. Anderson said, it e pupils should be trained to use original language, and not allowed to repeat that of the historian. The exercise should be one of oral composition; then an extensive stock of synouymes is acquired, and easy expression of views on any topic is the possible good result. Memorizing of chronological tables is to be condemned. If twenty or thirty dates are remembered, others will, little by little, cluster themselves about these. But whatever the plan followed, that of teaching by means of set questions and answers should not be adopted. It is bad for instructor and papil alike. One study, at least should be employed for teaching the youth to use their constructive powers; and there appears for this end no study better than history. satisfactory results; for the lads gain valuable

Robinson Consolidated superintendent telegraphed January 3: "Shipped to day 42 tens: assay 50 ounces."

The Earlies & Walker Mine shipped January 3, $5,100 builden.

The Storational stockholders held their annual meeting at the company's office in this city on Treasday, at which it was unanimously agreed that the conservative administration of the company's affairs by Clark & Bothwell during the past year was deserving of their hearty approval, and without opposition these officers were reclected for 1882. The net earnings of the mine now amount to between $12,000 and $15,000 per month, the total gross shipments for December being nearly $57,000. The accumulation of a proper treasury fund to guard against all possible contingencies being considered of primary inportance, the Board of Directors after discussing the question decided that it was inexpedient to declare a dividend for the month of December.

It is officially stated that for the month of December, 1881, the net profits of the Little Pittsburg Mine exceeded $8,000, and that over $80,000 are now in the company's treasury.

The Satemo Goid Quartz Company mill, Tangier, N.S., started up December 22, but was shut down for a few days owing to a slight defect which was speedily remedied, and the mill again started up on the 26th. The superintendent sent out by the New-York contractors and builders of the mill in a letter to his firm, dated December 30, says: "I started on Monday morning and have been rurning might and day since without as much as a hot box or anything class to retard our progress, I am proud to say that I honestly believe the mill to be the best one in the Dominion of Canada. the battle was won. When the advance began it was fed by several rumors, all of which were absurd, but none more so than the one to the effect that the railway war was ended. Experience has shown that when there is business enough for the railways there is no war, and that when business is light there always has been a strong competition for what there was. The figures printed in to-day's TEIBUNE of last week's shipments from Chicago show that traffic that does not exceed the capacities of either the Lake Shore or the Michigan Central Railroad was divided between six lines, and at rates that return a less to every road handling the freight. It may well be asked, if 10 and 12 cent rates will not induce a movement greater than 47,000 tons a week, how much less would the shipments be if the rates wers made 20 cents. We learn to-day from a trustworthy authority that the Grand Trunk Line, with its comparatively small equipment, has 1,600 cars standing idle. Perhaps, however, the rumor to the effect that the merchants, being dissatisfied with the present low rates for freight, were about to call a meeting at which Baltimore and Philadelphia are to be invited to be represented, for the purpose of petitioning the railway managers to advance rates, is more absurd than the one relative to the settle. ment of the railway war. Nevertheless both rumors found many believers and had a marked etfect upon the closing transactions, which were made at the best figures of the day. The markets closed strong.

The Sub-Treasury to-day lost $3,347,005 on balance, made up by a coin loss of $3,448,383, less a currency gain of $190,778. This makes the total loss since last Friday $3,911,867. But the foregoing figures do not include the payment for $1,450,500 bonds redeemed, the checks given for which were of as much service to the money market as they will be after passing through the Clearing House to-morrow. Notwithstanding the large disbursements by the Sub-Treasury for interest and redemption of bonds, the local call loan market was stringent, and borrowers were compelled to pay commissions of 1-16 early, to 1-64@1-32 late, for accommodations over might. The United States Treasurer at Washington received $280,000 in National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts were $829,144, and the revenue receipts $242,184. The Clearing House statement to-day is as follows: Exchanges, $194,084,801; balances, $9,807,754.
